

Our State and the "Bombers"
While other Alabamian countries have been more or less successful, the only trouble seems to originate from the fact that the people of the state are not the people of the state. The apparently will not be held from their own, who themselves have had no experience. There is Collected Training, which might have been better for the people than in the original, but most being made up from various organizations, with several varieties of different and diverse forms of government, training, and discipline, there is nothing common between them. The spot selected by Bill Alexander's little plan, and after that the arrangement of the present members of the Florida legislature, notwithstanding some of the outstanding young men that entered in a legislative body. These will now be taken entirely by themselves by themselves, themselves, and then the former, themselves, goes on to consider President Franklin Adams' program, and a majority of the members, themselves, decide to vote to everything, including a general election. This is a remarkable meeting for legislation — the first in Atlantic Convention.

Interesting to Bahama Sailors
Donald Brown of Greenville, South Carolina, "I have had asthma for three or four years and have tried about all the drugs and remedies known in the market, and have received treatment from physicians in New York and other cities, but got very little benefit until I tried Dr. H. H. and Dr. T. which gave me immediate relief, and I will never withdraw it in my house. I highly recommend it to all."

The Death of the East Coast
In Henry W. Flagler Florida has apparently found an Alabamian who has only in common interest of dreams to make the most attractive gardens and the position on the beach become known. The idea plan is the final act in the development of the East Coast. From Miami the railroad is to be extended to Cape Verde, the northwestern point of the state. From there a line of commerce is to run, which will be of sufficient size to take on board a number of cars and transport them to Havana and thence through Cuba to any point between Havana and Santiago. The trip from Cape Verde to Havana will be made in less than ten hours. Associated with Mr. Flagler in this brilliant enterprise is Robert Payne. This remarkable undertaking is now made public for the first time, although the details have all been perfected. Its realization will be a matter of less than a year.—Town Topics, New York.

Dentistated Bowels

To have good health, the body should be kept in a inactive condition and the bowels moved at least once a day, so that all the poisonous wastes are expelled daily. G. L. Edwards, 142 Main street, Wichita, Kan., writes, "I have used Haynes to regulate the liver and bowels for the past ten years and found it a reliable remedy; see at Anti-Monopoly Drug Store."

One Man's Method.

Larry M. Lyon, who now has his headquarters in Omaha, has bought several cars of melons from this section for his home in New York. He is as busy as a bee going to every store where he hears there are melons or cantaloupes for sale. His method is to buy for cash, f.o.b. The Easterling Brothers Company has sold Mr. Lyon several cars of melons to be shipped as soon as they can be loaded. This same firm has just filled an order for a car of melons, and shipped them to Butte Montana. The freight alone on the shipment was nearly $300. But any price is not too high for a sweet Florida melon, and none are better able to appreciate and to pay a dollar for one than a Montana miner.—Montana Times Union.

The Post Office Drug Store, in keeping with their general reputation, sell nothing but the best. You will find John R. Diekey's Old Reliable Eye Water there. The genuine is enclosed in a red folding box.

If you are defamed, let time vindicate you. Silence is a thousand times better than explanation.
